South Bay, Boston, MA | CERCLA Petition & CWA Citizen Suit Notice | EPA Region 1

From Ashley Gjovik <ashleymgjovik@protonmail.com>

To wainberg.daniel@epa.gov, gardner.frank@epa.gov, dominguez.jessica@epa.gov, Carr, Stephanie<carr.stephanie@epa.gov>, cespn-rg-info@usace.army.mil

Date Friday, February 13th, 2026 at 9:28 AM

Hello regulators,

Please find attached a Petition for Preliminary Assessment under CERCLA § 105(d), 42 U.S.C. § 9605(d), and a Notice of Intent to File a Citizen Suit under the Clean Water Act, 33 U.S.C. § 1365, and CERCLA, 42 U.S.C. § 9659, regarding the South Bay in Boston, Massachusetts.

A paper copy will be sent via Certified Mail to the US EPA administrator, US AG, and any other required parties.

This Petition requests that the EPA conduct a mandatory preliminary assessment of the South Bay site for placement on the National Priorities List. The attached notice also constitutes a sixty-day notice (extended to one year) for a citizen enforcement action under both CERCLA and CWA statutes.

The Site encompasses the South Bay, Fort Point Channel, the Roxbury Creek/Canal, the Dorchester Brook/Canal, and surrounding filled tidelands in Boston.

The CWA 404 complaint alleges the South Bay and surrounding wetlands were unlawfully filled for 200yr+ and that filling constitutes continuing violations as it is creating ongoing pollution of the ocean, captured Boston's powerful tides in underground pipes and tunnels where its creating structure instability and public health hazards, it crashed Boston's overtides, and it puts Boston at extreme risk due to Sea Level Rise.

The Site contains documented hazards including extreme pollution due to chlorinated solvents, PCBs, PAHs, lead, arsenic, radionuclides, pathogens, landfill leachate, hydrogen sulfide, garbage, eutrophication, sewage, and hazardous Victorian sewer infrastructure, actively polluting and disrupting the waters of the United States.

Under information and belief, this is the first CERCLA petition or CWA citizen suit notice filed for any portion of this Site, and there have never been any NPL sites in the City of Boston.

The notice also presents geological evidence and proposes that Boston may actually be a bolide impact site, which has significant implications for site characterization, contaminant transport modeling, and the adequacy of all existing remediation plans in the basin.

That is also one of the reasons it took me so long to file this after my prior notification -- I wanted to be certain before I made such an allegation, then once I was certain I wanted to sort out if I had to be the one to say that, and I do think I have to as this its an active hazard and any remediation must consider the actual geology otherwise it could make the issues works. Accordingly this CERCLA petition argues the bolides are a CERCLA release and should trigger NPL remediation, along with the other pollution. Further, it appears Boston may be a Younger Dryas ground-zero impact site, and this would be the first identification of such a site globally, and thus make the area an irreplaceable resource for scientific research.

The full petition is attached and also at DOI: 10.5281/zenodo.18634019. I'm also attaching a workbook I was building with environmental site data which your teams may find useful as a starting point.

Potentially Responsible Parties and Defendants identified in the notice include the City of Boston, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Harvard University, Boston University & Boston Medical Center, E.I. Du Pont De Nemours & Co., and Procter & Gamble-Gillette, among others.

I respectfully request confirmation of receipt. Thank you.

Respectfully,

Ashley M. Gjovik, J.D.

Hello,

When I sent my email on Friday, I received even more out of office responses so I understand my email and questions may not be reviewed until Jan. 2026.

Regardless, I just wanted to let you all know what my plans are.

Since discovering the Roxbury Canal, I've now dedicated nearly a week to researching: the Roxbury Canal/Stream, South Bay, and Fort Point Channel; the century of sewage dumping in those areas (along with dumping of industrial waste and municipal incineration waste); the extensive and severe pollutions issues known to exist in Inner Boston Harbor and adjacent area related to the sewage dumping; legal and engineering requirements for the closure of large cesspools and sewage injection wells; the ecological impacts of raw sewage dumping and sewage-associated organisms; sewer gas hazards; and last but not least, the City of Boston and the Commonwealth of MA's historic and ongoing defiant attitude towards federal regulation of navigable waters, streams/rivers, wetlands, beaches/coasts, and waste management.

Accordingly, I now plan to:

- Submit a CERCLA 105(d) Preliminary Assessment Petition to EPA by end of this week.
 - I will email you folks a copy but I will also serve the US & Regional Administrators a copy via Certified Mail.
 - I could not find requirements for service of the petition, but I understand that US government generally enjoys Certified Mail, so I will provide it to them.
- Serve a sixty-day Citizen Suit notice to the Defendants (at least City of Boston and Commonwealth of MA) for violating the Clean Water Act, Section 404, with continuing and ongoing violations.
 - The Defendants filled the Roxbury Canal/Stream and portions of the Fort Point Channel, around 1950-1970, in knowing violation of multiple existing federal legal requirements, and with public documentation of their admitted intent to violate those laws, and with direct monetary incentive, for their violations of those federal laws.

- The Defendants filled navigable waters and wetlands, without approval from the federal government, and the filling damaged the wetlands, changed the coastline boundaries, impacted nearby federal facilities and infrastructure, and obstructed navigation of Waters of the United States.
- The Defendants transformed a Water of the United States, including navigable waters with harbors and commerce, into what appears to be, the nation's most hazardous and long-running large, municipal open cesspool. The cesspool created acute injuries and illness for a century, but the Defendants repeatedly refused to stop their dumping, refused to remediate the contamination, and also frequently denied the dangers and harm despite extensive evidence to the contrary -- showing a reckless indifference towards public safety and environmental integrity.
- The Defendants "abandoned" their cesspool/injection well by filling it with solid and hazardous waste, including but not limited to: waste from a municipal incinerator (that was subsequently shutdown due to environmental violations and dangerous conditions), and in violation of environmental/safety laws already existing at that time, and in violation of later environmental laws and with continuing violations.
- The Defendants failed to take any actions to contain the pollution with barriers; failed to take any actions to prevent seepage or migration; failed to map the hydrology and groundwater flow; failed to conduct any sort of soil, air, or groundwater monitoring; failed to create any sort of issue/complaint reporting or tracking process from potentially impacted community members; and have essentially tried to erase the existence of this creek/canal from their modern public records.
- There are multiple lines of evidence that the Roxbury creek is still flowing in South End and out to the Ocean. It appears the City of Boston is still dumping sewage into this creek with their Combined Sewer/Stormwater system. It appears City of Boston has channeled at least some of this creek into underground stormwater/sewer infrastructure. It appears part of this creek is still flowing underground but is not officially mapped or tracked (it appears to be flowing under at least two brownstones on Worcester Square in the same area as historic reports about the creek's location). This creek is a permanent creek reported to flow from Boston into the Ocean, with multiple sources including artesian springs in the marine clay, for at least 400 years -- making it clearly a Water of the United States.

I expect to file the Section 404 notice within a month in order to toll statute of limitations and enable joint action by EPA and Army. I intend to pursue Citizen Suit litigation under CWA and CERCLA if EPA and Army do not act, however the 105(d) petition provides EPA one year and if it appears EPA is engaging in that assessment process, I would allow EPA time to work through its procedures and would not plan to file any litigation for that year period.

I also want to be available to the government to provide evidence about the contamination and impact from this site, and as mentioned prior, urgently request government assistance with the diverse deep sea hydrothermal vent community thriving in my basement apartment next to this abandoned cesspool/dump site, and the associated microbial and sewage toxic gases entering this building from the soil/groundwater/plumbing. There have been multiple signs of hydrogen sulfide gas exposure in this basement for over two years including physical damage and medical injury. I reported these issues to City of Boston and they've done nothing, refusing to even respond for over a month.

Hello Regulators,

I'm sending this email and I also concurrently filed a Report of a Suspected Environmental Violation with the same text. (attached).

I am requesting EPA evaluate the former Roxbury Canal site for the National Priorities List, investigate ongoing CWA and CERCLA violations, and coordinate with appropriate agencies regarding unusual microbial activity that appears to be occurring in residential areas due to the presence of hazardous waste and sewage contamination.

I believe there are continuing violations of at least the CERCLA and the Clean Water Act in the South End of Boston, MA -- with decades of unlawful dumping of hazardous waste and sewage, the unlawful filling of the Roxbury Canal and South Bay in Boston Harbor, and the failure to have any remediation plan or monitoring of the concealed toxic waste dump site -- despite active hydrology at that site and a direct connection to navigable Waters of the US.
